Betty Hello, I'm Betty. What's your name?
Carlos Carlos. Carlos Sanchez.
Betty Are you a new student?
Carlos No, I'm not. I'm the new Spanish teacher.
Betty Oh, right. I'm the English teacher.

2
Betty This is the teachers' room, Carlos. Come in and sit down.
Angela Hi, Betty.
Betty Hello, Angela. Angela, this is Carlos Sanchez. He's the new Spanish teacher.
Angela Nice to meet you, Carlos.
Carlos Nice to meet you, Angela.
Betty Angela is the director of the school, Carlos.

3
Angela Are you Spanish, Carlos?
Carlos No, I'm from Salta in Argentina.
Betty How do you spell Salta?
Carlos S-A-L-T-A.
Angela Is Salta near Buenos Aires?
Carlos No, it's in the north of Argentina.

4
Betty What's your email address, Carlos?
Carlos Er ... it's cbs900@serv.com.
Betty There's a party at my house this weekend. I'll send you my address.
Carlos OK. Thanks.
Betty See you later. Goodbye.

5
Angela Bye, Carlos. See you on Monday.
Carlos No, I'll see you tomorrow.
Angela Tomorrow? But we aren't at school tomorrow. It's Saturday.
Carlos I know. But Betty's party is tomorrow.
Angela Oh ... yes! See you tomorrow, Carlos.

My name's Tim. I'm an English teacher. I have a really big desk in my room. I have lots of things on the desk. I have a computer and a printer, pens and pencils, a photo of my children, an English dictionary, and a big yellow lamp. My desk is very tidy.

I'm Akiko and I'm a student. I have a table in my room. It isn't a very big table, but I have a lot of things on it and it isn't very tidy! I have my laptop, I also have a big box of tissues, lots of Japanese magazines, and the keys to my little blue car!

My name's Paul. My desk is small. At the moment it's tidy. On my desk I have my computer, a small red lamp, a black file, a phone, a pair of scissors and an old diary.

Gran Slow down, Mark! You're a good driver, but this road isn't very safe.

Dad Don't worry, Mum.

Gran Oh, Mark! Please slow down and be more careful.

2

Gran I'm cold. Can you turn the air conditioning off, Mark?

Dad OK, Mum.

Megan Oh, Dad! I'm really hot now.

Dad Open your window, Megan.

3

Tom I'm bored. Are we there yet?

Dad Not yet. It's about 120 kilometres.

Megan Dad, I'm hungry.

Gran Can we stop at that café, Mark? I'm thirsty.

Dad OK.

4

Tom Give me that music magazine.

Megan No, this is my magazine.

Tom No, it isn't!

Megan Yes, it is!

Dad Be quiet, you two! Tom, listen to your iPod! Megan, read your magazine!

Gran Turn the radio on, Mark.

5

Satnav After 50 metres, turn right.

Dad We're here. At Gran's new house.

Megan Great! It's a beautiful house, Gran.

Gran Thank you, Megan. Don't park here, Mark. Look at that sign.

Dad Oh, dear!

Nigel Hi, Vicky.
Vicky Hi, Nigel. Sorry I'm late. This is my sister, Liz. Liz, Nigel's one of the teachers I work with at the school.
Nigel Nice to meet you, Liz.
Liz You too, Nigel.
Vicky Sit down, you two. What do you want to drink, Liz?
Liz Er ... an espresso for me, please.
Vicky Another coffee, Nigel?
Nigel A tea for me, please.
Vicky OK.
Nigel Do you live in Leeds, Liz?
Liz No, I live in Crosby – it's a small town near Liverpool.
Nigel Oh, my parents live in Liverpool. They have a computer shop in the city centre. What do you do?
Liz Me? I teach Film Studies at Liverpool University.
Nigel Film Studies? How interesting.
Liz It's an interesting job. I watch lots of films at work!
Nigel What kind of films do you like?
Liz I don't like modern Hollywood films. I prefer old black and white British films. What about you?
Nigel Oh, I teach French and Spanish, so I like foreign films ... This music is terrible.
Liz What kind of music do you like?
Nigel My friends like heavy metal, but I prefer jazz. When I'm in Liverpool I go to a club called The Kingdom – they have great jazz nights.
Liz I go there, too. I love jazz. Oh great, here's Vicky with the drinks.
Vicky Here you are. An espresso for you, Liz, a tea for Nigel, and a latte for me – lovely!

1
Yes, I do. I don't work in an office and I'm never bored. I travel a lot and I meet interesting people, and the other flight attendants are really nice. It's a great job and I earn quite a lot of money.

2
I study Chinese and Economics at the university. I want to work in China one day. I think it's a really interesting country. The language is quite difficult to learn, though. I listen to Chinese songs in my car to help with my pronunciation.

3
Yes, I do. I'm in a big office with six other people. They're very nice and we're all friends. After work we often have dinner in a restaurant or go to the pub for a drink. I think it's important to work with nice people.

4
I work at home so I don't travel to work. I have an office in my house with a big desk. I have a computer and a printer in my office and hundreds of files and books. My office isn't very tidy and it's difficult to find things.

5
No, I don't. I meet my friends on Saturdays and we go shopping or we go to the cinema. On Sundays I play tennis with my sister. If it rains, we stay at home and read the newspapers. I like my job, but I only work Monday to Friday.

- Emma These are great photos. Who's the schoolgirl in this one?
- Dan That's Katie, she's my little sister.
- Emma How many sisters do you have?
- Dan Two. That's my other sister, Miranda.
- Emma She's very pretty. How old is she?
- Dan 28. She teaches English in Mozambique.
- Emma Do you see her often?
- Dan Not really. She comes home once or twice a year. This is her daughter, Lola. She's only three. And that's her husband, Victor. He's a teacher, too.
- Emma Is that woman your mother?
- Dan No, that's Alma. She's my dad's sister. She's really nice. This is my mum.
- Emma What does she do?
- Dan She's a lawyer. This is all of the family at Christmas. That's Alma's husband, Miles, and that's their son, Toby. He's the same age as me, but I don't like him. He's a bank manager!
- Emma Is that girl one of your cousins?
- Dan No, that's Jane. She's my ex-girlfriend!

- Dave What do you usually have for breakfast, Kelly?
- Kelly Oh, I hardly ever have time for breakfast at home. I always get up late. I take the train to work and I usually buy a sandwich and a cup of coffee from a little café near the train station. I have them at my desk.
- 2
- Jill Do you often go out in the evenings, Pete?
- Pete No. I'm afraid my social life isn't very exciting. I usually get home and have a shower. Then I make dinner. After dinner I read a book. I get up at 5 a.m., so I'm always in bed at 10 o'clock.
- 3
- Mary Where do your parents live, John?
- John In a small town in the north of England.
- Mary How often do you visit them?
- John Not very often – about once every four months. It takes around ten hours to get there by train and the tickets are very expensive. I usually go up for Mum's birthday and for Dad's birthday. And I always go home for Christmas.
- 4
- Dan Do you work at the weekend, Jill?
- Jill No, my weekends are for relaxing. On Saturday morning I have a long bath. After lunch I meet my best friend, Annie, and we go shopping together. We usually buy clothes or CDs. In the evening I go out with my boyfriend. We usually have dinner in a restaurant, but sometimes we go to the cinema.
- 5
- Anna Do you get up early, Phil?
- Phil Not every day. I get up at six o'clock during the week, because I have a long drive to work. And on Saturdays I sometimes get up at eight o'clock and go to the gym, but I don't do that very often. Usually I stay in bed until around 9 o'clock. What about you?
- Anna Oh, I have three children. I always get up early!

Interviewer Come in and take a seat, Steve.
Steve Thank you.
Interviewer So you're looking for a summer job? Do you have any hotel experience?
Steve I'm afraid not. My parents have a shop and I sometimes help out when they're busy.
Interviewer Well, a lot of our visitors don't speak English. Can you speak any other languages?
Steve My parents are from Hong Kong so my Chinese is very good. And I know some Japanese.
Interviewer OK. Good. What about German?
Steve I know one or two words, but I can't speak it very well.
Interviewer Now, we need people who can drive because the hotel is a long way from the town and there aren't any buses.
Steve Well, I can drive but I don't have a car – I want a summer job so I can buy one! But it's OK because I have a motorbike.
Interviewer That's great. What about computers? Can you use a computer?
Steve Yes, I'm very good with computers. I'm studying computing at university.
Interviewer Once a week, we have a Scottish food and music night for our visitors. Can you sing or play a musical instrument?
Steve Well, I know some Scottish songs, but my girlfriend says that I'm not a very good singer. But I can play the guitar quite well, and I'm a very good dancer. I know lots of Scottish dances.
Interviewer Great. Well, thanks very much for coming here. We'll phone you next week about the job.

Fran London is so cold.
John Well, it is winter! What's the weather like in Australia today?
Fran It's summer now, so it's really hot and sunny. It hardly ever rains and you can go to the beach every day.

2
Pete What do you usually do when the sun's shining, Kay?
Kay Well, I live a long way from the coast, so I don't go to the beach. There's a park in the centre of town, but I prefer to go there when it's cold and there aren't a lot of people around. When the weather's good, I usually go down to the river and relax with a book.
Pete Do you go shopping?
Kay No! I never go shopping when it's hot. Our shopping centre doesn't have air conditioning!

3
Presenter 1 Now, it's over to Tony Hedge for the weather forecast.
Presenter 2 It's good news for Scotland today. It's a cold and windy day, but you don't need an umbrella. Temperatures are between five and eight degrees, so wear warm clothes!

4
Sam Be careful when you drive home.
Lena Why? The roads aren't dangerous. It isn't raining and there's no ice on the road.
Sam It's sometimes quite foggy here at night and you can't see the road.
Lena Oh, right. Thanks for telling me.

5
Jane What's your favourite season, Dave?
Dave That's a good question. It isn't summer. A lot of people like hot weather, but I don't. Spring and autumn are too changeable – one minute you need sunglasses, the next minute you need an umbrella. I think winter is my favourite time of year, because it snows and I can ski every day!

Alice What date is it, William?
William The 25th of November, why?
Alice Only 30 shopping days until Christmas!
William Oh, no! I hate shopping. And shopping at Christmas is really bad! I don't like buying presents for people, because I never know what to buy.
Alice Really? I love it. And Christmas is my favourite time of the year. I love seeing my family on Christmas Day and opening my Christmas presents.
William What about the dark nights and the cold weather?
Alice I don't mind them. And it's great when it snows.
William It hardly ever snows in Brighton at Christmas.
Alice Maybe, but my parents live in Scotland and it always snows there!
William I prefer summer. The weather's nice and I can do lots of things. I like getting up early and going for a run before everyone wakes up. You can't do that in winter – it's so dark in the morning.
Alice I like summer, too. My birthday's on the 21st of June, the first day of summer, and I usually go out after work with my friends. And I love the bank holiday at the end of August, because we have a day off work and lots of shops open on public holidays.

- Roger These are great pictures.
Alison Yeah. My photos aren't as good as these.
Roger That's the Jamaican runner – he won lots of medals at the Olympics. What's his name?
Alison It's Usain Bolt. And that one's the American swimmer – er ... Michael Phelps.
Roger Oh and look! There's Eddie Edwards – he was a British Olympic skier.
Alison Who's this woman?
Roger That's Ellen MacArthur. She sailed round the world and broke the world record in 2005.
Alison Who did she sail with?
Roger She didn't go with anyone. She sailed alone. That's a photo of her on her boat in Australia.
Alison Wow! It's a great boat.
Roger And here's another picture of her in France.
Alison Is she Australian or French?
Roger No, she was born in the north of England. I read a book about her a few weeks ago. She's a really interesting person. She was only four when she started sailing, and she sailed around Britain in a boat called Iduna when she was a teenager. She won lots of races, but she retired in 2010.
Alison What does she do now?
Roger I don't know. I didn't finish the book!

Mike I phoned you on Saturday but you weren't at home.
Anna No, I went out with Carla and her sister.
Mike Where did you go?
Anna Well, we wanted to try that new French restaurant in town, but it was closed. So we had a burger and went to see the new Brad Pitt film. It was really good!
- 2
Dave How did you meet your husband, Jane?
Jane Oh, I met Pete when I was a student. I was bored one weekend so I decided to go home and see my family. I didn't have enough money to take the train, so I took the bus. Pete had the seat next to me and we started chatting. The rest, as they say, is history!
- 3
Kate Where are you working now?
Mike At the train station. I'm in the ticket office.
Kate Do you like it?
Mike It's not too bad, but I preferred my old job.
Kate Why did you leave?
Mike The owner of the restaurant decided to retire.
- 4
Sara What are you looking for?
Alan My mobile phone. I can't find it anywhere. I had it when I left the football match, because I called Stacey on my way to the café. Oh, no! I put it on the table in the café and I forgot to pick it up when I left.
- 5
Tim Did you see the match last night?
George Only the first half. Jill wasn't at home so I had to cook dinner for the kids. Then I had to help them with their homework.
Tim Don't worry! It wasn't a very good match.

- Inspector Please sit down, Mrs Jones. As you know, I'm here to ask questions about the robbery. What happened?
- Mrs Jones Well, yesterday, at about three o'clock, two men came to my house. One was tall and blond with a moustache, about 30 years old, and the other was quite short with dark hair. He was probably about 18.
- Inspector And what happened?
- Mrs Jones They said they were from the water company and that they wanted to check the quality of water of all the houses in the street.
- Inspector Did you ask for identification?
- Mrs Jones Yes I did, and they showed me their identity cards. They seemed OK.
- Inspector What happened next?
- Mrs Jones I went into the kitchen and the tall man followed me. He was there for about five minutes.
- Inspector Where was the other man?
- Mrs Jones Well, I thought he was outside because he opened and closed the front door. The tall man didn't stay long. But after they left, I looked in my bag and my purse wasn't there.
- Inspector How much money did you have?
- Mrs Jones I think I had about £50.
- Inspector Did they take your credit cards?
- Mrs Jones No, they didn't. They were in another bag.
- Inspector Did they take anything else?
- Mrs Jones I don't think so.
- Inspector OK. Well, thank you very much, Mrs Jones.

- 1
- Coral Well, I have two homes. I have a big flat in the centre of Paris and a little cottage in the south of the country. I live and work in the city, and I go to my cottage for holidays. It's very small, just a living room, a kitchen, a bathroom, and a bedroom. But it's a great place to relax. It's next to the sea and there aren't any noisy neighbours!
- 2
- Nick I bought this flat because it's opposite the hospital so I can walk to work. There are five rooms – a kitchen, a bathroom, a living room, a study, and a bedroom. I love the living room because it has a great view of the city. Oh, and another good thing about my flat is the garage, because it's really difficult to park on the street here.
- 3
- Danny When I was a child my parents had a big old house in Scotland. There were six rooms downstairs and eight bedrooms upstairs, but only two bathrooms! And it was always really cold – there was no central heating system, and the fireplaces weren't very good.
- 4
- Lisa Well, this is Browning Street, but I don't know which house is Gemma's.
- Alan I can't remember the number, it's 4 or 5. And is the door blue or green?
- Lisa OK, well, this is number 4 and the door is red. Let's try number 5 – that has a green door.
- Alan OK.
- Gemma Lisa, Alan. Hello, you're late! Come on in.
- 5
- Kate My favourite room? Hmmm ... that's difficult. I like all the rooms in my house. The bathroom is lovely, because it's really clean and modern. And I love relaxing in the living room – I bought some really comfortable armchairs. But I think my favourite is the kitchen. It has a big table and it's really nice to sit in there and have meals with all the family. We've got a dining room but we hardly ever use that.

Erica What's that?
Nathan One of your magazines. Oh, let's do this food quiz.
Erica OK.
Nathan Question 1. Fruit juice is better for you than milk. True or false?
Erica That's true, because milk has more calories. Fruit juice is better.
Nathan You're wrong. Fruit juice is bad for your teeth and there's more sugar in it! Next question. People in England have a healthier diet than people in Scotland. True or false?
Erica There isn't any difference. People eat the same things in England and Scotland.
Nathan No, in England people eat more fruit and vegetables, so they get more vitamins. And in Scotland they have more salt in their diets, and salt is really bad for you.
Erica Oh, dear. I love salty food.
Nathan Next question. You eat more in winter. True or false?
Erica True! I eat when I'm cold and I always put on four or five kilos during winter.
Nathan Well, it says here that you don't eat more in winter, but you don't go out much when the weather's cold. People are heavier in winter because they don't exercise.
Erica Ask me another.
Nathan True or false? Short fat chips are better than long thin chips.
Erica Of course, they are! They're much tastier.
Nathan I mean they're better for your health.
Erica Yes, I know you're talking about health! And the answer is it's true because long thin chips have more oil on them.
Nathan Correct!
Erica How much longer is this quiz? I'm hungry!
Nathan This is the final question. Chocolate is good for you.
Erica Well, I love chocolate, but I don't think it's good for my health. There's a lot of sugar in it and a lot of calories.
Nathan Yes, but the magazine says that some scientists found out that eating a little chocolate each day helps people to relax and feel happier. Where are you going?
Erica To the kitchen to get a bar of chocolate. I want to find out if the scientists are right!

Imogen Hi, Jane. Go through into the living room. Tony and Ed are in there. They arrived a few minutes ago.
Jane These are for you.
Imogen Oh, they're lovely. Thanks a lot.
Jane Hi, you two.

2
Jane This soup is delicious. Did you make it yourself?
Imogen Yes, it's very easy to make. You only need onions, olive oil, salt and pepper, and a little cream to put on top. You can add some chicken as well, but I didn't put any in today.
Tony You're a great cook, Imogen. What are we having after the soup?
Imogen Wait and see.

3
Imogen Here's the main course. Jamaican chicken and rice – my grandmother was born in Jamaica and she taught me how to make this when I was a child.
Ed It's really nice.
Tony I agree. The meat is very tasty.
Imogen Well, enjoy it. There's lots more rice, if you want, but only a little chicken.

4
Imogen Would you like some more water, Jane?
Jane Yes, please. I'm really thirsty.
Imogen Tony? More water?
Tony Er ... Is there any cola?
Imogen Yes, there's some in the fridge in the kitchen. Ed?
Ed No, I'm fine, thanks.

5
Imogen There's ice cream or chocolate cake and cream for dessert.
Jane Ooh. Chocolate cake for me, but only a little cream with it.
Ed The ice cream for me, please.
Imogen What about you, Tony?
Tony Nothing for me, thanks. I can't eat any more. Can I have a glass of water?

- Interviewer Excuse me. I'm doing a survey about people's holidays. Can I ask you and your husband a few questions?
- June Yes, of course.
- Interviewer First of all, can you tell me your names?
- June I'm June Smith and this is my husband, Thomas.
- Interviewer And are you from Bristol?
- Thomas No, we're from Bolton. We're visiting our daughter – she's at university here.
- Interviewer Can you tell me about your last holiday?
- Thomas We had a week in Bridlington, on the east coast. It was really nice and we had sunny weather all week. There are lots of interesting things to do there – we had some nice walks and visited the museum and art gallery. It wasn't expensive either. And the holiday apartment was very comfortable – great views of the sea from our bedroom window.
- June Well, I didn't enjoy it. It was cheap and the weather was nice, but Bridlington wasn't very exciting. It was very quiet in the evening and there was nothing to do. It was sunny, but I couldn't sunbathe or swim in the sea. I like hot countries and I like to go dancing in the evening. And it's better to stay in a hotel. I don't want to cook or make beds when I'm on holiday!
- Interviewer So, where are you going to go for your next holiday?
- June Well, I want to go somewhere exciting. Maybe New York. I can go shopping during the day and Thomas can visit some of the museums. Then, in the evening we can do some sightseeing and visit some of New York's restaurants and nightclubs.
- Thomas No, thanks! I don't like big cities and sightseeing is boring. I prefer to find places that are quiet and relaxing. I'm going to buy a new mountain bike and travel round the coast of Ireland.

- Presenter There's only ten minutes to go until the end of the match and the score is 2–1. Leeds are definitely the better team today and they look very strong. Manchester City aren't playing very well. They scored the first goal, but they look quite tired now. I don't think they're going to get another goal before the end of the game.
- 2
- Presenter 1 Now it's over to Jonathan Hodge for the weather. Jonathan, the weather is really bad at the moment. Is it going to be better later on in the week?
- Presenter 2 You're right, Tricia. The weather isn't very nice. It's snowing all over the country at the moment, and it's very cold. The average temperature is only two degrees. That's six degrees lower than it usually is at this time of the year. The snow isn't going to stop and temperatures aren't going to get higher.
- 3
- Paul Rosie?
- Rosie In the living room, Paul!
- Paul Hi. What are you doing?
- Rosie I'm moving all the furniture into the bedroom. I don't want to get paint on anything.
- Paul That armchair looks heavy. Let me help you.
- 4
- Sara Be quiet! I'm trying to work.
- Dom But me and Jake are practising. We're going to enter the school music competition next week.
- Sara There are lots of really good musicians in the competition. You can't sing, and everyone is going to laugh at you!
- 5
- Woman Who's the best person for the job, Jim Brown or Terry Webb?
- Man Jim has more work experience, but he can't speak German. Terry's German is very good – he went to university in Berlin, but he doesn't have any experience.
- Woman Well, most of our customers are German, so we need someone who can speak to them in their language. That's more important.
- Man OK, I'll phone them both this afternoon.

- Kerry So, Jamie, what's it like living in Paris?
- Jamie Oh, it's very different to Cardiff. The first thing you notice is the clothes. I prefer to dress casually, even when I'm teaching. But I can't do that in Paris. My students are businessmen and they're always really well dressed, so now I have some formal clothes that I only use for work. The worst thing is that clothes are really expensive there.
- Kerry Is your French good?
- Jamie It's quite good now. I'm having lessons and I can have conversations. It's a beautiful language, but I don't always understand what people say because my French isn't perfect.
- Kerry What are the people like?
- Jamie Some people say that people in Paris aren't very friendly – but it's the same in London, some people are friendly and some aren't. My neighbours, Jean-Luc and Marie, are lovely. I met them on the day I moved into my apartment and now I have dinner with them every weekend.
- Kerry That's lucky, because you aren't a very good cook!
- Jamie Well, fortunately there are lots of great restaurants in Paris and the food is fantastic – and it's cheaper to eat out there. One thing that surprised me though is that there are a lot of fast food restaurants – and most of the customers aren't foreign tourists, they're French. So it's a myth that all French people eat healthily!
- Kerry What's driving like in France?
- Jamie Well, I don't really use my car very much, but I think most French people drive well. One or two of my friends don't, though. My girlfriend always drives fast – even on little streets. She uses her phone when she's driving and she shouts at other drivers. It's safer to walk than travel in a car with Nathalie!
- Kerry Oh, dear. Poor you!

I retired six months ago and my son bought me a computer. I did a course so I could learn how to use it. I don't use it every day. I don't like sending emails – I prefer to write letters. But I do buy quite a lot of things on the internet – like food and books. It's very easy to find what you want and the best thing for me is that I don't have to carry anything home!
- 2
Some of my friends think I'm really strange because I don't have a computer at home. I do know how to use a computer – I'm a travel agent so I have to use one in my job. But I don't want one in my house. I don't like playing computer games and I prefer to do my shopping in the town centre, so I can see what I'm buying.
- 3
I spend around four or five hours every evening on my computer. I use it to write essays for university, but mostly I play computer games, check my Facebook account to see what my friends are doing, or download films to watch. It's really easy to find new films, and it's cheaper than going to the cinema.
- 4
The internet is great, isn't it? My daughter lives in Colombia – she teaches English there – and it's really expensive to call her on my home phone. But now we have Skype and we talk to each other two or three times a week. She's got two sons, and they sometimes make video calls to me. It's lovely to see and hear them.
- 5
I work at home and I use my computer all day. I'm a reporter so I use the internet to find out information when I'm writing an article, and I have an email account which I use to send work to the newspaper. But I don't just use my computer for work. I like to watch TV on my laptop, and I'm always emailing my family and friends. I write around 30 emails a day. I also have a Twitter account and a blog that I use every day to tell people about my life.

Presenter Good evening and welcome to Celebrity Interview. I'm Paula Beacon and my guest tonight is Hollywood film star, Mike Changer. Welcome to New York, Mike.

Mike Thanks, Paula. I'm really happy to be here.

Presenter Is this your first visit to the USA, Mike?

Mike Yes, it is. And I'm having a great time here. Everyone is so friendly.

Presenter Now, Mike. You've recently finished a new film called Going Home. What's it about?

Mike Well, it's the story of a 15-year-old boy who argues with his parents. He has a difficult life, but he gets a job and goes to university and becomes a teacher. When he's 25, he decides to go back and see his parents at Christmas.

Presenter So this is a film for Christmas?

Mike That's right.

Presenter It's very different from your last three films, which were about vampires.

Mike Yes, but it was time to do something different.

Presenter Are you making another film at the moment?

Mike No, I'm writing a book for children.

Presenter How did that happen?

Mike Well, I got married three years ago and we recently had a baby girl. I wanted to do something for my daughter.

Presenter Is it easy to write a children's book?

Mike Actually, it's quite difficult. But I studied English at university, and I worked on a children's magazine for two years before I became an actor, so I have some experience.

Presenter Well, thank you for coming to talk to me and good luck with the film and the new book.

Mike Thank you, too.

John Not another celebrity magazine, Mel! Why do you buy them?

Mel I like reading about famous people. Have you ever met anyone famous, John?

John No, I don't think so. Oh, I saw that TV presenter, Shirley something. I can't remember her name. She was at the post office. And I spoke to the actor from the James Bond films – at the theatre where I worked.

Mel Oh, right!

2

Mark Do you want to go to the cinema tonight, Sally?

Sally What's on?

Mark The Hobbit.

Sally Oh, I've seen that. I saw it last week in London with Jenny. Is there anything else?

Mark There's Johnny English.

Sally Oh, I haven't seen that, but I love Rowan Atkinson's films. I thought Mr Bean was really funny.

3

Rachel Hi, Brian.

Brian Rachel, I need your help. I want to take Liz out for a meal, but I'm not sure where to go.

Rachel Have you tried that Chinese restaurant on the High Street? I went there last week. The food was really nice and it wasn't expensive.

Brian I don't really like Chinese food. What's that new Greek restaurant like? I've never eaten Greek food.

Rachel I don't know. Sorry.

4

Ricky Neil, what are you doing here?

Neil I'm looking for some paint. Clare wants to decorate the living room.

Ricky But you've decorated it once this year.

Neil We painted the bedroom last month, but not the living room. Anyway, why are you here, Ricky?

Ricky I need to get some wood to make shelves for the kitchen.

5

Dan Have you ever been to Italy, Mary?

Mary Yes, my dad's parents were Italian, and we visited them every year when I was a child.

Dan What's Naples like?

Mary Oh, that's in the south. I've only been to the south once. My grandparents lived in Milan, in the north. I'd like to go back to the south, though.

Dan Let's go together. We can get a car and drive round.
